

Community Health Worker

Health Navigator I

A Community Health Worker (CHW) is a trusted member of the community who works in health/human service settings to provide culturally appropriate health education, outreach services, and care coordination. Also known as outreach workers or navigators, CHWs assure access to healthcare, promote healthy communities, and build individual and community capacity.

The year-long Kealaho'imai Community Health Worker cohort at UH Maui College offers a series of 5 FREE online courses (3 credits each, totaling 15 credits) required to earn a Certificate of Competence within the Human Services academic program.
